Baby Snack

When winter comes,
coffee houses show new winter edition drinks.

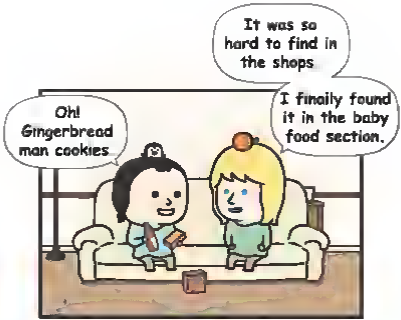
This winter, I was obsessed with gingerbread coffee.

My mother in law, Gail knew that.



I received a gift,
a bottle of gingerbread syrup and a pack of gingerbread cookies from her

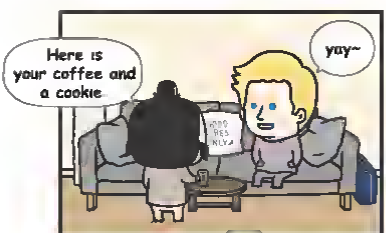
The cookie was healthy because it was supposed to be baby food.

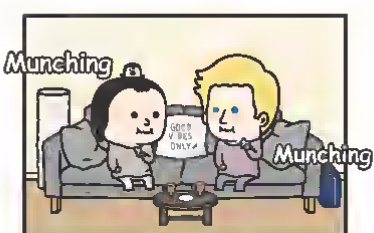
It had a lovely package as well, so I left it on the shelf for a while.

Then one day, I finally opened the cookie package.

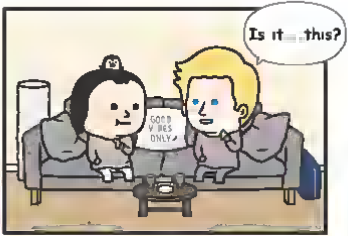


I wonder what it tastes like

Munching
Munching



While we were having the cookie,
we realized



A baby snack.

Here is your biscuit.

Yum yum

It's nasty.

Do you want a cookie?

No thank you.
I don't want it!!

Snack.
Snack for babies...

Don't insult us by calling it a 'cookie'. Just call it an education tool for babies

Nahhh.
